

This resin Frog ring from Angélique de Paris is crafted in gold and features a variety of resins with gemstone eyes. Angeliquedeparis.com.

From Boucheron, this Chouette Owl ring is crafted in 18-karat white gold and set with amethysts, violet sapphires and diamonds. Boucheron.com.

Crafted on a stingray strap, this Elephant cuff bracelet from deGrisogono features a tsavorites-set elephant with sapphire eyes. Degrisogono.com.

Animal Instincts

By Roberta Naas

Everywhere one turns this season, animal influences abound. From the runways to the ready-to-wear collections, from handbags to footwear to hats, coats and accessories – leopard prints, tiger stripes and zebras are all the rage. So, of course, jewelry is equally inspired to bring out the wild side of life. From Africa to Asia, from earth to sky and water – animal jewelry is the key to keeping customers happy this season and to ringing up sales.

From Aaron Henry, this whimsical 18-karat gold brooch is set with green tsavorites and diamond eyes. Aaronhenry.com.

From the LeVian Derby™ Collection, this Horse necklace is crafted in 14-karat Strawberry gold with a Chocolate Diamond® body and white diamond-studded mane and tail. Levian.com.

This elegant panther Caine necklace by Robyn Rhodes is set with gemstones and a panther head. Robynrhodes.com.

Roberto Coin Nemo Rings in 18K gold with black or white enamel, rubies and diamonds. robertocoin.com.

These sterling silver "Happy Elephants" with diamond eyes are offered on sterling silver link chains in three sizes (baby, 16", mama 17", papa 36") by Mikelle Design.com.

From K Brunini Jewels, this Fox pendant necklace is crafted in gold and gemstones and represents a spiritual closeness with nature. kbrunini.com.

John Hardy's Palu Macan Lava (Macan means tiger in Ballinese) hoop earrings with tiger heads. The tiger is the symbol of courage, passion and triumph over the impossible. Johnhardy.com.

